

GIANTS EVEN UP WORLD SERIES IN SLUGFEST

GIANTS POUND 2 HURLERS FOR 8 TO 5 VICTORY

Harper and Shawkey Hammered to All Corners of Lot in Sixth Game

BARNES RELIEVES TONEY

Three Home Runs in Second Inning Spell Doom of Two Pitchers

By United Press Leased Wire
Polo Grounds, New York.—The slim serious faced Giant, eased into heroes' row this afternoon when he downed the Tanks 8 to 5 in the sixth game of the world series.
Barnes' curve ball the murderers' row of the American league champions into submission and evened the count 3 to 3 in the race for the championship.
After ponderous Fred Toney had been pounded for three hits and three runs in the first inning Barnes rushed to the rescue and retired the side.
In the second inning he was touched for two hits, a single by Shawkey and a home run by Fawcett, who made good in the role as a sub for the great Babe Ruth.
Barnes struck out ten men and allowed only two hits in the last seven innings. Harry Harper, the lone southpaw of the Yank staff started on the mound for the American league champions but he lasted only a little longer than Toney. Kelly walked to start the second inning and Irish Meusel "did some of his stuff" by hitting a homer into the right field stands. Rawlings flied out and big Frank Snyder smashed a homer into the left field box stands 3 and 3.
The score by innings:
First Inning
Giants—Burns up, Burns walked. Unsettled. Morarity ordered Ruth off the Yank bench and he came into the press box. Bancroft popped to Fawcett with Burns holding first. Frisch batted right handed, switching over against the southpaw. Frisch fanned, striking wildly at a curve. Young fouled to Fawcett who made a beautiful running catch. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Harper lacked control at the start but the Giants insisted on swinging wildly at his sharp breaking curves instead of playing a waiting game.
Yankers—Fawcett walked. Peck fouled to Frisch, and Fawcett was almost doubled at first. Miller reached first on a single to Bancroft. It was a hard grounder. K. Meusel doubled to center, scoring Fawcett and sending Miller to third. Pipp, out Kelly to Rawlings who covered first. Miller scored and Meusel also crossed the plate when Ward singled to center. The Giants held a council of war around Toney and Jess Barnes came in on the ball pen, replacing Toney in the box for the Giants. McNally up, McNally flied to Young. Three runs, three hits, no errors.
Toney didn't have a thing and the Tanks batted him savagely by hitting the first ball pitched.
Second Inning
Giants—Kelly walked on four straight. The Giants had started waiting Harper out. E. Meusel hit a homer into the right field stands, scoring Kelly ahead of him. The crowd went crazy and cheered and cheered Meusel as he walked to the bench. Rawlings flied to Miller. Snyder hit a home run into the left field bleachers, tying the score. The crowd became still wilder. There was no move from the Yank bench to relieve Harper. Barnes singled to center when Miller failed to make a shortstop catch after a brave effort. Harper was taken out of the box and Bob Shawkey relieved him. Barnes singled to right. Barnes stopping at second. Bancroft fanned, swinging. Frisch, batting left handed this time, flied to K. Meusel on the first base line. Three runs, four hits, no errors.
The Giants adopted a policy of waiting. Harper up, forcing him to grove to the ball which they proceeded to murder. Shawkey who relieved him looked little better.
Yankers—Schang out on strikes, the last one called. Shawkey singled to left. Fawcett hit a homer into left field bleachers, scoring Shawkey ahead of him. The sub for Babe Ruth was given a tremendous ovation when he duplicated one of the Bam's drives.
Peck out Frisch to Kelly. Miller out, Kelly unassisted on a weak little roller. Two runs, two hits, no errors.
Ruth sitting in the press box at first gazed at Fawcett's home run, then laughed so hard he nearly fell off his seat.
Third Inning
Giants—Young up, Young flied to R. Meusel who ran back to the fence for a brilliant catch. Kelly singled to McNally. The grounder knocked McNally down but he made the throw for a very close play. E. Meusel flied to Fawcett who backed against left field wall for the catch. Rawlings

FARM LOAN AGENCY READY TO FINANCE FARMERS OF STATE

Board Created by Government Will Tide Farmers Over Period of Depression

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee.—Wisconsin farmers needing financial aid in harvesting or marketing their crops, breeding, raising, fattening, or marketing of livestock or for any other agricultural purposes will be taken care of by a new farm loan agency, it was announced here, Tuesday.
The Wisconsin committee of the agricultural loan agency of the war finance corporation is fully organized and ready to receive applications for loans and to make recommendations to the government. Temporary headquarters are at 435 East Water street, where the war finance corporation is located.
The law under which the war finance corporation is created authorizes "the making of advances to any bank, banker, or trust company which may have made advances for agricultural purposes."
This will enable Wisconsin farmers to borrow money to tide them over the period of depression and eliminate the possibility of the market being flooded with livestock and grain which some farmers would be forced to market to obtain money to enable them to carry them through the winter.

Mrs. Rademacher's body was rescued from the Detroit river by fishermen. Rademacher identified the body and became confused in his stories, police said, which resulted in his arrest.

Small Towns Are Prey For Yeggs This Winter

By Carl Victor Little
Chicago, Ill.—The crook who figures the world owes him a living has taken a cue and gone to the small towns to collect.
Crooks and highwaymen have deserted the big cities and have started their winter offensive against villages of a few thousands population.
Reports reaching Chicago police headquarters, the clearinghouse for midwestern crime, showed Tuesday that in the last 24 hours activities of bandits, thugs and yeggs have centered on towns and villages.
This increased record of crime, according to Police Chief Fitzmorris, marks the opening of the winter crime season.

WOMAN NAMED AS "BRAINS" OF KU KLUX KLAN

House Rules Committee Begins Inquiry Into Workings of Mystic Order

ALLEGED HUGE TAX DUE U. S.

Hearing Will Decide if Sweeping Congressional Investigation is Necessary

By James T. Kolbert
By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—A woman is the dominant figure behind the Ku Klux Klan, C. Anderson Wright, former king kleege of the order, told the house rules committee Tuesday.
He named Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler, Atlanta, as "the woman behind the throne."
Officials of the Ku Klux Klan have collected approximately $30,000,000 from their 500,000 fellow members, upon which the government has received no tax return, Representative Tague, Massachusetts, declared before the committee, which is to decide whether congress shall investigate the organization. Tague said he arrived at the figures from information furnished by the Klan officials.
Called Cowards
Opening the preliminary inquiry of the rules committee into the workings of the mystic order, Tague asserted it was up to congress to show whether the constitution "merely a scrap of paper." He denounced the members of the Klan as a "pack of cowards who go into the night behind masks and infringe on the rights of citizens."
Imperial Wizard William Joseph Simmons of the Ku Klux Klan appeared before the committee ready to defend his "invisible empire."
Purpose Explained
The main purpose of the preliminary inquiry, according to members of the rules committee, is to determine whether there is evidence to indicate that:
1.—The Klan is responsible for several outrages against citizens, particularly in southern states.
2.—The local klans are in effect conspiracies in violation of federal and state laws.
3.—The Klan is using the mails to defraud.

SEEK LABORER WHO MURDERED LAWYER

Revenge is Believed to Have Been Motive for Stabbing After Fight

By United Press Leased Wire
Dayton, Ohio.—Police Tuesday expected to arrest, within 24 hours, the man who mysteriously murdered Louis A. Soward, prominent attorney, in his office here.
Soward was found stabbed to death Monday. His office showed he had battled furiously with his assailant. The steam radiators were torn from the wall, telephone wires were ripped, furniture overturned and blood spots marked the wall.
The clue to the identity of the slayer was furnished police inspectors by a man and woman who refused to reveal their names. They declared they met a mill worker near Soward's office shortly after the time of the murder Tuesday.
"I just met a guy who beat me out of $500 and I got him or at least part of him," they said the alleged murderer boasted.
The couple told police the man's clothing was shredded and his face scratched and bleeding, evidences of a bitter fight.
Police had been unable to trace any other motive than revenge.

The fire will smolder for at least two weeks, officials believed.

SHIP SUBSIDY IS WAY OUT OF CANAL ISSUE

English Antagonism Expected if Congress Gives Free Panama Canal Tolls

MAY AFFECT ARMS PARLEY

House Expected to Relieve Country From Embarrassing Foreign Situation

By David Lawrence
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—The most embarrassing situation that has faced the farding administration since it took office came to a climax Monday. The senate had agreed to vote upon the bill to exempt American coastwise vessels from paying Panama Canal tolls. Great Britain has protested before against such legislation on the ground that it would violate the rights he claims under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. The British were expected to protest again.
Irrespective of whether the legislation does or does not violate a treaty, the feeling in executive quarters is that the passage of such an act on the eve of the armament conference might have a most unfortunate effect on Anglo-American relations. President Harding is himself unable to stop the senate for he went on record publicly in favor of Panama canal tolls exemption not only in his speech of acceptance last year but in speeches since he became president.
Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, who like Elihu Root voted against a similar bill when it was before under the Wilson administration has decided to stick to his earlier attitude. His opposition to the bill has been on the ground that treaty rights were brought into question by the "unbrought of Alabama" democratic leader, who refused to follow President Wilson on the same issue when the tolls fight of 1914 was on. It is an example of the kind of work it performs when it provided a home for a wayward young girl who was rejected by all other organizations in the city. This young woman was held as a charge of the county but efforts to land a home for her were unavailing until the Salvation Army was notified and arrangements were made at once to take care of her.

Y.M.C.A. Membership Drive Is Big Success

Slightly More Than 1,400 Members Are Obtained in Campaign—Orbison Elected to Head Next Year's Drive.

Success that campaign workers hadly dared to expect in these times of depression and unemployment crowned the 1921 balloon race of the Y.M.C.A. in which a total of 1,407 members was obtained. This is one less than the total obtained a year ago when all was prosperity and money came easily. Cheer after cheer burst forth at the closing banquet of the thirties Monday evening in the dining hall of the Y.M.C.A. when the final reports were made.
Division B, commanded by O. P. Schaffer, had the largest number of members and was awarded a large trosted cake on which the "Y" emblem was designed. The banner to the team having the most members, or reaching the greatest altitude in the balloon race, was the group headed by Thomas E. Orbison. Carrying out a new custom, the workers later elected Mr. Orbison commander-in-chief of the 1922 campaign, for which arrangements will begin at once. Division C took second place in the race.
For having the largest number of members in the boys' division of the campaign, Harold Podzinski was awarded a tip to Milwaukee to the Olympic conference in November with all expenses paid. The individual winner in the men's group was not decided, but when the figures are checked officially his name will be announced and a prize awarded. E. E. Dunn, campaign chairman, was presented with a loving cup in appreciation of his loyal work in putting the campaign over.
Help For Boys
A feature of the campaign that will bring joy to the hearts of many boys is the fact that those who could not renew this year because they could not afford it will be taken care of. It was found that many boys were unable to obtain their usual vacation employment this summer by which they earned their membership fee. Enough contributions were given by business men to admit all these boys for another year. Those deserving the gift

WORK IS STARTED ON CAMPAIGN FOR SALVATION ARMY

Fraternal and Civic Organizations Asked to Lend Assistance in Drive

First steps in organization of the city and county for the annual Salvation Army financial campaign were taken by C. W. Zelle, campaign manager, when he began distributing the city for campaign purposes. He expects to have a large corps of workers which will cover the city thoroughly.
Mr. Zelle is requesting heads of fraternal, civic and social organizations in the city to give him a list of names of persons who might be willing to devote a half day to the campaign. From this list Mr. Zelle expects to recruit a large force of workers.
It is proposed to end the campaign as quickly as possible and plans are being made for a one day campaign: "The Salvation Army needs $4,000 to carry on its most efficient work in this community and the campaign committee is confident that that sum can be raised without difficulty."
The army a few days ago gave an example of the kind of work it performs when it provided a home for a wayward young girl who was rejected by all other organizations in the city. This young woman was held as a charge of the county but efforts to land a home for her were unavailing until the Salvation Army was notified and arrangements were made at once to take care of her.

Peace Confab Is Begun In London

Kept Resolve But Is Killed By Assassin

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—Gray haired Charlie Reiser, whom police dubbed as the most notorious safeblower in the Midwest decided to "go straight."

Since he made his resolution two years ago, even the "dicks" who watched him said he had been a good and useful member of society.
Charlie was shot and fatally wounded last night as he returned from a movie with his daughter.
Police believe Charlie was shot by a former confederate who resented it when the safe cracker "went straight."

HEADS OF LEGION POSTS IN STATE WILL MEET HERE

Appleton is Voted Annual Meeting of Commanders and Adjutants

Appleton will entertain between seven hundred and one thousand commanders and adjutants of American legion posts in Wisconsin in February. The second annual convention of commanders and adjutants was voted to be held at a meeting of the state executive committee held at Madison on Monday. L. Hugo Keller, executive committee member from the Ninth district, was in attendance and secured the convention for Appleton.
This conference is one of the most important of the year. Officers are given their instructions for the ensuing year and the time is devoted almost entirely to business. The annual legion convention to which delegates are elected is more of an enthusiasm-meeting but the winter gathering is primarily for business.
Several of the national officers of the legion are expected to attend and it is probable that a speaker of national reputation will be secured to deliver an address. Plans for entertaining the officers will be started by Oney Johnston post in the near future.

JACKMAN TAKES UP LEMBERGER CASE

Will Try Father for Murder of His Daughter, for Which Johnson Was Imprisoned

Madison.—Ralph W. Jackman, one of Madison's most prominent attorneys, was Tuesday appointed special prosecutor in the case of Martin Lemberger, charged with murder in the second degree, and of Mrs. Lemberger and her son, Alois, charged with perjury.
The charges against the Lembergers were the outcome of the "Dobson" Johnson pardon hearing. Johnson has served ten years of a life sentence in the state penitentiary for the murder of Lemberger's seven year old daughter, Annie.
The appointment was made by Superior Judge A. C. Hoppmann, who appealed to Jackman to accept as a duty to the public and to the court.
Upon accepting, Jackman announced that he would make a special investigation of the charges and that if he found indications of guilt he would push the case to the limit. Otherwise, he said, he would drop them rather than prosecute innocent persons.
Jackman's investigation will start immediately. Meanwhile Johnson is back in Waupun, his pardon hearing having been suspended pending the outcome of the Lemberger trial.
Jackman will confer with Carl Hall, attorney for the Lembergers, Tuesday to fix the date for preliminary examination. The Lembergers are now free on bail.

Sinn Fein Delegation Meets British Cabinet Committee in First Session

START BUSINESS TOMORROW Allegiance of Ireland to Crown, and British Atrocities, to be First Issues

By Ed. L. Keen
By United Press Leased Wire
London.—The Irish peace conference met, Tuesday at 10 Downing street for a brief, formal, introductory session, and adjourned.
The Sinn Fein delegates, who were hailed by cheering, flag waving crowds both when they arrived and departed from the conference chambers, were to return at 4 o'clock. The morning session adjourned at 1 p.m.
The British delegates, a cabinet committee appointed by the prime minister while in Scotland, arrived shortly before the Sinn Fein plenipotentiaries. The latter came to Downing street in a luxurious limousine and made their way with difficulty through the crowd.
Irish Delegates Introduced
Lord George introduced the Irish plenipotentiaries to his colleagues of the British cabinet and in a brief speech, welcomed the visiting delegates and outlined the possibilities of the conference.
Arthur Griffith, Sinn Fein foreign minister, responded.
The epochal conference Tuesday began under a cloud with reports from Ireland of shootings, kidnappings, and outrages making the delegates task most difficult.
It was felt that reference to these disturbances in Ireland would cause the first skirmish of the conference.

Noted Singer Happy To Return To Old Home Town

Mme. Luella Chilson Melius Tells About Early Days of Her Career

Mme. Luella Chilson Melius

Luella Melius, known to all Appletonians as Luella Chilson, whose father was Dr. Chilson and resided at 480 College-ave, arrived in Appleton Monday evening for her first song recital since her triumphs abroad. When seen at the hotel by our reporter, she was in happy spirits and glad to be back in her "home town," also being in splendid voice.

Upon questioning her as to the strange phenomena which transformed her voice through a dream, she modestly smiled and gave the following explanation:

"Ever since a little girl I have wanted to be a great artist and was always singing. My first lessons here in Appleton made me so happy but I longed for a greater field. I went to Chicago and studied at the Chicago Musical college with the well known teacher, Herman DeVries, and sang in concerts, recitals and vaudeville, using the latter as an expedient to obtain sufficient funds to go abroad and study with my ideal, 'Jean de Reszke,' the famous tenor and vocal teacher.

I worked daily with the master for about two years and one night after a splendid lesson at which he encouraged me greatly, I retired early, being fatigued. During the night I had a dream."

Here, the singer paused as if to reflect a moment, and then continued, "I dreamed that I had finally reached my goal and stood on a stage of a large hall, receiving the tumultuous applause of the large audience and the stage was almost covered with floral decorations. It seemed to me to be the happiest moment of my life. I arose, went to the piano, tried my voice and it was more glorious than before, and all previous difficulties and obstacles had been suddenly removed.

"The next day, my teacher, Jean de Reszke, said excitedly: 'Ma chere Luella, votre voix est superbe' (meaning that my voice was superb) and then and there proclaimed me 'the American Patti.' And, here I am home again to give my friends the first opportunity of hearing me sing." Last spring, upon the return of the singer, several noted psychoanalysts and throat specialists called upon her to learn details of this strange happening. They believe the sudden improvement was caused by the removal in a moment of absolute self-consciousness of a subconscious impediment. Several cases have been recorded, not only with singers, but with painters, poets and especially composers, who, through such strange phenomenon, have jumped into sudden fame.

Luella Melius will be entertained at dinner Wednesday by her friends, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Dickinson. She will sing in Chicago Tuesday next and a week later in New York.

STILL ROOM FOR FORMER-SOLDIERS IN NEW CLASSES

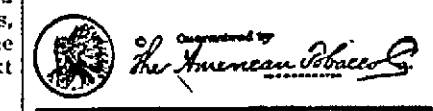

Committees appointed for the organization of evening classes for former service men, met at the Vocational school Friday night. Classes in industrial management, letter and card writing, paper making and in bookkeeping were organized but others may be forming if more ex-service men sign up for other classes. Committees were appointed to petition the state board of education for support.

Those ex-service men who have not signed up for classes and who wish to do so may still enroll, by notifying Charles C. Baker, Post commander of the American legion.

When Pommerening was a candidate a year ago to succeed J. N. Tittle, more, three times president of the society, Tilly acted as his campaign manager. Upon Pommerening's election, he named Tilly chief organizer of the Wisconsin society, which is the highest honor and office that a president can bestow.

When the new dairy plan was evolved, which created so much discussion among other farmers' organizations, Tilly was offered the post of director. His resignation from that position is said to indicate his complete separation from the society.

HELPS CITY FIND SUPPLY OF WATER

Prof. Rufus M. Bagg, geologist of Lawrence College, has been engaged by the water and lighting commission of Wisconsin Rapids to make a survey of the water situation there and to make recommendations which will assist in alleviating the water shortage which the city is experiencing.

Prof. Bagg has gone over the ground and has recommended that the city sink a new well at Oak-st. He believes that a sufficient flow of good water can be secured there to make the supply adequate. The professor has chosen the Oak-st. well site because he believes there is a coarse subsoil at that place. Here, therefore, the city wells have been inefficient because they are sunk in sand subsoils and the sand stops the flow of water.

Construction work which has been in progress in the city this summer has required a great deal of water and this has been taken from the city mains in spite of the protests of citizens who declare the shortage of water has been a great hardship to them.

DUCKS MAKING FIRST APPEARANCE ON LAKE

Ducks and other waterfowl have begun their annual heira into the south according to hunters who report that an advance guard of the main body of ducks is on the shores of Lake Winnebago.

The white breath of winter has drifted well down into southern Canada and it is likely that all waterfowl will participate in a concerted flight unless a spell of balmy weather appears at once to beguile them into lingering longer.

A few teal have been bagged during the last few days and this is said to be an invariable indication that the main body of ducks is on the move. Teal usually act as pilots to the more numerous blue bill, red head, canvas-backs and whistlers, it is said.

THE STAGE

"The Four Horsemen"

One of the most important engagements of the season began at Appleton Theatre Monday when the Metro Pictures Corporation presented for the first time in Appleton Rex Ingram's tremendous picture of Vicente Blasco Ibañez's novel "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" which is now being offered simultaneously in Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The opening scenes of "The Four Horsemen" represent an Argentine port, a scene that was only suggested in the book but developed into a big scene by June Mathis, the adaptor, to show the beginning of Julio Desnoyers—the leading character in the play—as a dancer in a rough cabaret, learning the tango and maxixe with which he was later to astonish Paris. On seeing the first photographs of this scene, Senor Ibañez wrote to Rich and Rowland, president of the Metro, saying: "I endorse them without qualification. The acting, the backgrounds, the ensemble—are all superb. I had a suggestion of what these scenes might be in my conversation with Miss Mathis when she outlined her ideas for the picture when I was in your country. And it is to Miss Mathis that the credit for their richness and wonderful coloring is due."

OUR RURAL SCHOOLS

Sixteen hundred and forty-five energetic young boys and girls from the country have entered the doors of the county training schools of Wisconsin with the purpose of making teaching their chosen work. This is 332 more students than applied for admission last year at this time, or an increase of about twenty-five per cent. Why the increase? It was a simple proposition that by increasing salaries enough to pay a return on the investment for training, teachers could be secured to meet the need for trained instructors. This increased enrollment this year is not enough to meet the needs of the country schools, but it indicates that we are on the right track. School boards are demanding trained teachers for the higher salaries, and have a right to them. But teachers cannot be made in one night. It takes from two to four years.

We have let the rural teaching profession in particular fall into disrepute among young people by years of systematic under-paying—now we have to "show them." To many of them it has to be proved that we did not merely raise salaries to tide over an emergency and the moment we can we will drop them. In most counties, farmers are in earnest about wanting trained teachers. They will keep salaries at the present level at least, and secure them.

If the present salary level is maintained with reasonable increases for experience and successful teaching, the right young people will come into the profession in sufficient numbers to meet the needs. But nothing can induce such persons to enter the profession and stay in it if salaries drop below a level which they can readily command in other lines of work. Many counties are still suffering a serious shortage of trained teachers this year, reports show. There were not enough teachers to go around. The cities have greatly reduced their use of "below standard" teachers this year by a determined effort to hold qualified teachers and to set a salary level which should command training and experience.

One hundred and forty schools were built last year in the rural districts and villages of 57 Wisconsin counties. This speaks well for those communities who saw their children's needs and met them. But there are still 636 schools which ought to be built in these same communities. Those districts have not realized that many of their children are losing the foundation upon which they might build a successful life.

Another solution of the rural school problem is consolidation. There were twenty-seven consolidations of school districts made in these same counties last year. With 104 rural schools serving less than six children apiece, it is clear that consolidation is the answer in a large number of cases. Ashland and Outagamie counties head the race in consolidation with four consolidations each for last year. They believe, and experience shows, that proper consolidation results in increased daily attendance, the securing of better teachers, better buildings and better trained boys and girls who go on and get more education.

THE PUBLIC PAYS THE LOSSES

By proclamation of President Harding this is Fire Prevention week. Selfishly and unselfishly the foremost insurance companies are conducting a strenuous campaign to reduce the number of fires and the mortalities and losses of fires. As it is an educational campaign, the press is the principal spokesman. Tenants, property owners, manufacturers and business men seldom explore this subject far enough to startle themselves with the unquestionable conclusion that it is they who pay the fire losses and they who cause the losses which they must themselves pay. This argument should be the most impressive in favor of precautions against fire.

The losses from fire today approximate

$365,000,000 a year in the United States. Seventy-five per cent, or three-fourths, of them are preventable. This is saying that losses of virtually $275,000,000 are due to carelessness and indifference, and could be averted with a little vigilance. No argument is needed to show convincingly that the insurance companies must derive the revenue for running their business and paying the losses from the premiums which they collect. The rates of the premiums are regulated by the fire losses, going up or down correspondingly to the cost of property destruction. Does this illustration not make it clear enough that the public itself is the victim of conflagrations?

Fire Prevention week concerns everybody. Give some attention to preventing fires, and help to reduce the property losses and mortalities.

CAUTION IN INVESTING MONEY

At an auction sale in an Illinois county seat to close an estate, mining stocks and claims which the deceased owner had appraised at a value of $350,000 were disposed of for $5.10. The star of luck may be imperceptibly watermarked in some of this worthless paper, but the chances rather are that the price paid was more than reasonable.

A large cooperative concern, organized as a common-law trust, and capitalized at several millions of dollars, has just gone into bankruptcy. Under this special common-law trust, three men had sole control of all the money subscribed, of all the properties, and of the management of the business, and, as their only liability was in the criminal court, shareholders could not forcefully question their honesty or efficiency. Thousands of persons mostly women, invested in shares in this trust, notwithstanding that state officers and chambers of commerce had warned them fully and clearly as to their risk.

The foregoing are but commonplace examples of the weakness of investors in their eagerness to get rich quick or to make larger than ordinary profit on their savings. The rich or fairly well-to-do man can afford to gamble, but the average person who has only a few hundred dollars, or perhaps a few thousand, plays with fate when he lays out his savings in the hope of receiving a quick fortune.

There are regular and trustworthy establishments which sell securities and it is with them that investors should place their savings. In a game of chance the odds are to lose all.

DEVICES TO MANIPULATE PRICES

Of general public interest is the announcement of the Federal Trade commission that there are 141 trade associations in the United States which are engaged in the collection and exchange of price information. In plain terms, members of these associations may use this information to hold up prices, or, as is sometimes said, to stabilize prices.

Congress should investigate thoroughly the methods of organizations which enable price-fixing. Certain business groups cooperated during the war under the auspices or with the sanction of the Federal government, and entering into tacit price agreements is now a habit with them. The commission's reports indicate the extent and seriousness of this abuse.

THEY'D MET BEFORE

My first attempt proving a failure, I embarked a second time upon the matrimonial seas. We returned from our honeymoon by way of a little town where my new husband had business interests. That afternoon, much to my surprise, I met an old schoolmate of mine on the street. She made me promise that we would dine with her the next evening.

"I'm a newly wed, too," she explained, "and I want you to meet Harry."

For me a most delicious dinner was spoiled. Harry proved to be my first husband. I experienced the most embarrassing moment of my life when my friends exclaimed, "O, you're acquainted!"—Chicago Tribune.

PREVENTION OF MEASLES

Measles is responsible for nearly 100,000 deaths a year in this country as well as fever, coughs, and more than 20 times as many deaths as smallpox causes.

This disease always puts the victim's life in jeopardy. And yet there are still a few individuals encumbering the earth who advise irresponsible mothers to expose their children to this fatal disease and "have it over with." This is the most vicious practice imaginable. A great many of us grow up without having had measles or scarlet fever, and after childhood immunity unquestionably increases, so that few adults are susceptible enough to contract measles provided they are reasonably intelligent about avoiding infection. Hundreds of doctors and nurses habitually exposed to measles, scarlet fever and other communicable diseases, have never had these diseases in childhood and, by intelligent precautions in caring for patients, escape infection in adult life.

The virus (no specific term is recognized) is most virulent in the stage before the skin eruption, when the patient is just coming down with what usually is termed a "cold." With the appearance of the eruption, after three or four days of coryza, fever, sore throat and coughing the virus is less active. Measles tends to diminish again rapidly, so that the danger from personal contact with the patient steadily decreases and is practically over at the end of a week or ten days from the initial coryza.

Now it is customary to exclude children from school when they have measles, and in some communities to isolate them for 10 days, as a measure of safety for others. But this is of little value as a preventive precaution, because the child coming down with measles has "peppered" all his school mates on playmates in the two or three days prior to the eruption, while he has been sneezing and coughing and entertaining his "just a cold." So measles will probably continue to destroy many precious lives that should be saved until health authorities muster sufficient courage to insist on the isolation of individuals who purport to have "just a cold."

Dr. J. W. Brewer, referring to an epidemic of measles in Watertown, N. Y., in a paper read before the conference of sanitary officers last spring said: "We must acknowledge that the so-called cold is the point of attack, and I hope to see this community that before the next measles epidemic the people will see that all children with colds are isolated, or at least excluded from school."

It has been said that the public would never stand for it, but I believe they will as soon as they realize what it means.

More power to Dr. Brewer's executive ability! May he have the best of luck.—But somehow I can't feel so confident of the public as he seems to feel.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Thoughtful Versatility

I am 15 years old and have been playing the piano a great while and also using a typewriter. My hands have had enough exercise, too much as it seems to me, for I think I have strained them. I cannot play piano at all for more than half an hour at a time. I have rested my hands for two months but can see no improvement. I would be very grateful for any advice you may give me. (Miss L. G.)

Answer.—Several possible explanations, of your difficulty suggest themselves and I am unable without personal observation to offer definite advice. Faulty posture while playing either or both instruments, or faulty posture of the shoulders as a habit (slumping or slouching shoulders), or super-natural (cervical) ribs, or some systemic health impairment. Consult your physician about your trouble.

The young man is 26. His father died of tuberculosis aged 44 when the young man was 15. One older brother is now in a tuberculosis sanatorium. Another brother succumbed to tuberculosis two years ago. A young brother looks frail—thin and pale. The young man himself is a healthy appearing and well set up fellow, but he coughs a little, blows his nose frequently, and when outdoors expects a good deal, which he attributes to "a little catarrhal trouble." With such a family history is the young man fit for marriage? I am only the grandfather of the girl in the case, but I am anxious to see her well married. (M. R. H.)

Answer.—The family history is immaterial. The question of importance is whether the young man has lived at home with father or brother while the latter had tuberculosis. Relationship or heredity is not the significant thing; prolonged intimate exposure to the disease through a father or brother or young man contemplating marriage, should prevent to the prospective bride's proper guardian a certificate from a physician the bride's guardian can rely upon, as to his freedom from communicable disease.

Athletics And Motherhood

By Frederic J. Haskin

New York City.—"Go right on being athletic, girls—it won't hurt you!" So say American physical culture experts.

So say American physical culture experts who take issue with the recent charges of English educators that athletics are unfitting for modern women for motherhood. The Victorian girl, according to these English authorities, clear was a much better mother than the modern feminine athlete, because she wisely conserved her store of vital and nervous energy for the crisis of motherhood instead of wasting it daily on the tennis court, golf course, or hockey rink.

This surprising assertion seems to have made a serious impression upon England, where there is now a strong movement for milder school athletics for girls, but so far it has received little sympathy over here. "Absolute tommyrot!" is the way most of our directors of physical education have dismissed the subject, while a few of them have taken the trouble to explain why.

"It is unfortunate," says Dudley Sargent, Harvard physical director, and head of the Sargent School of Gymnastics in Cambridge, "that such statements have just enough truth in them so that they cannot be contradicted in their entirety. It is true, of course, that many women do have trouble at childbirth, but it is unfair to say that it is because of athletics. Athletic training is ideal for women; it develops just the muscles of the abdomen and the lower part of the back that she is compelled to use in this crisis."

"Overindulgence, overtraining—that is another thing altogether. I do not believe in that. I have fought excesses all by life. I do not believe in the overtraining, for instance, that leaves a boat over in entire collapse once the race is over."

"I believe that these girls who specialize in tennis, who play all the time, all over the country, and who are sure to have trouble in the crisis of motherhood. Such women are tight, tense, keyed up all the time, and muscle bound. There is a vast difference, you know."

"Where is a girl going to get that vital and nervous energy the Victorians claim to have monopolized if she does not develop it? And if she develops it, she must keep it up. A man is well developed and then suddenly ceases physical exercise goes stale and flabby. This is equally true of a woman. Her muscles must be developed and kept developed if she is to perform her function of motherhood."

Mothers Need Muscle
"You read more and more of the necessity of resorting to the Caesarian method. It is because so many women have undeveloped muscles of the abdomen and lower part of the back. It is because these women have never been called upon to do any hard work, or make any effort of their own."

Dr. H. N. MacCracken, president of Vassar College, thinks that the objection of the English educators to athletics for girls is based upon an inferiority complex. In other words, it is merely one more attempt of a dying generation to assert its superiority over its livelier successors. Victories of England are for out-muscled, muscular, healthy girls, who look almost equal to American eyes. They are especially numerous in the manufacturing towns. This type is apt to develop large, bunched muscles, which become flabby and degenerate unless they are constantly exercised. This is a bad thing. Just as overdevelopment of any part of the body is bad.

In conclusion, Dr. MacCracken would have us consider the heavy work performed by the peasant women in European countries—work entailing much more strenuous effort than feminine athletics—and yet women of this type seldom have any trouble in bearing children. In the face of such evidence, the argument of the Victorians obviously falls; nevertheless, it should be remembered that only a small percentage of our young women today have the sturdy build of peasants and that athletics, like coiffures, should be arranged at ways to suit the individual.

Q. What is the disease called the pin? J. K.

A. Pin is a condition of the tongue caused by some such ailment as a cold, which compels a bird to breathe through the mouth. The continual passing of air over the tongue causes it to become dry, hard and scaly, especially about the tip.

Q. What is zirconium? M. A. G.

A. The Bureau of Mines says that zirconium is a metal which is mined in this country in Henderson County, N. C. and in the Wichita Mountains in Oklahoma.

Q. How did Wamburgers make a triple play unassisted? A. P.

A. Wamburgers made a triple play unassisted on October 10th, 1920, during the World's Series, as follows: First and second bases were occupied and no one was out when Mitchell drove a sharp liner over Wamburgers' head. The Cleveland second baseman snatched the liner from the air, thus automatically retiring Mitchell. He then dashed over to second base, retiring the runner who by that time was nearly to third and could not possibly get back. Then, with never a pause, he ran up the base line towards first and tagged the astonished Miller who had started at the crack of the bat to avoid a possible double play.

Q. Will an increase in the weight of mail increase the salary of the postmaster of a 3rd class post office? C. M.

A. The Post Office Department says that the salary in a third class post office is based on the sale of postal supplies, box rents, etc., rather than increase of the weight in the mail.

Q. What kind of a gas is laughing gas? When were anaesthetics discovered? H. T.

A. Laughing gas is nitrous oxide. In 1859, Sir Humphrey Davy suggested its use as an anaesthetic. It was first used in 1844 that Dr. Horace Wells demonstrated its use for painless extraction of teeth. Dr. Crawford Long used ether for an operation in 1842, but it came into general use in 1845. Chloroform began to be used about a year later.

A Resume of American Newspaper Opinion

Solving the Transit Problem

If the shade of Tom Johnson of Cleveland were to review editorial comment on the program of the Transit Commission of New York for the rehabilitation of New York City's traction lines, it would undoubtedly conclude that something approaching the millennium had dawned upon earth. Men who fought for municipal ownership when that cause was about as popular as the nationalization of mines, say, is today, will probably be a trifle bewildered by the aim and object of the press of the application of that system to the country's greatest city. Acceptance seems to be the proper word—the principle of city ownership is neither defended nor opposed by editorial writers, in or out of New York; apparently it is taken as a matter of course, as the only solution. Discussion of the plan in New York papers of course deals with its practicability and probable success locally, while in the papers of other cities it is from the standpoint of the light the general idea may shed on the solution of traction problems everywhere.

The transportation problem in New York, says the CLEVELAND ELAIN DEALER is much the same as that with which Cleveland, Chicago and other rapidly growing cities have had to contend. In every case, it continues, "there is need of physical development of properties and the extension of lines to keep pace with a rapidly increasing demand for service," while on the other hand is the "increasing cost of operation that makes it most difficult if not impossible to earn a fair return on capital already invested to so nothing of putting further great volumes of capital in admittedly necessary transportation systems." In short, the SPRINGFIELD (O.) NEWS adds, "transportation lines in cities are beset with much the same problems as other business concerns," and in dealing with the local problem in New York the state commission has produced a plan from which "it is possible for many of our communities to pick up many interesting and practical suggestions which relate to a municipal question of commanding importance."

The feature of the Transit Commission's proposals which chiefly interests the NEW HAVEN JOURNAL COURIER is that which "plainly reveals the consideration of the local situation as a community problem," because as the paper says it, "the development of rapid transit in this country has been a social one in a broad sense, and New York has been forced to recognize its social significance. So, 'if the plan succeeds,' the JOURNAL COURIER continues, "we shall be prepared to see the principle upon which it turns attract the attention of American municipalities. It must, unless all sight is lost of its character as a community problem."

The New York scheme is a "tremendous experiment" which the MOBILE REGISTER believes "either cities will watch with interest, or will imitate." The PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN says, "The transit problem is almost universal in the cities of the United States, and in varying degrees the problem in New York is the problem of other cities, with many of its dominating factors identical in kind." Of the recommendation of municipal ownership the BULLETIN says:

"That idea has been growing of late years, helped along by the necessity in large cities for the appropriation of public funds or the use of public credit for the construction of high speed lines. If the city may properly construct and own some lines of the transit service or enter into partnership for their construction, it is by no means a plunge into socialism to propose that the tracks on the surface should belong to the city in common with the rest of the highway."

While "some will doubtless be alarmed by the commission's open admission of municipal ownership," the vocabulary of municipal ownership," the

NEW YORK TRIBUNE explicitly points out that "it should be specially noted that municipal operation is not recommended." In the opinion of the paper "great is the difference between municipal ownership and municipal operation, and doubtless the operation will be arranged for on some contract basis."

In New York papers it is generally agreed that the program put forward by the State Transit Commission must be thoroughly studied and critically analyzed before final judgment can be passed. For the present the TIMES considers it "praise enough to say of it that it shows a comprehensive grasp of the problems to be solved, and attacks them with knowledge based on experience and with a public spirit that is unquestionable and fearless." In prospect, at least, the GLOBE thinks "New York has the promise of adequate and efficient service on a clean basis at a cheaper rate than at present." The program contains, the POST believes, "the essence of a true constructive policy," substituting as it does "complete municipal ownership and an intensified municipal control" for "the chaos of mismanagement," and "unification" for "the chaos of divided ownership and uncoordinated management."

The BROOKLYN EAGLE finds a "hopeful" sign in the fact that the transit companies have not rushed into print to condemn the project, although they will be the heaviest losers if the plan goes through, and "whatever stand they make take in the future 'they have not at first sight found the plan to be seriously vulnerable."

Success or failure of the project, in the opinion of the New York Times, will depend upon two factors. "The thoroughness with which water is squeezed out of traction securities in the beginning, as affecting a fixed charge; and upon the skill and boldness of the management finally installed." In any event, the activities of the commission have "substituted something for nothing, a plan for the policy of nothing, a prompt for oratory, action for drift."

FOREIGN PRESS DIGEST

Why France is Armed

It is not easy to understand why France needs a big army, when her near neighbor and late enemy, Germany, is obliged to disarm. The following explanation in the EUROPEAN NOUVELLE, Paris, is of the sort that explains very little to the questioner who is not easily satisfied. Nevertheless the whole world is asking for France's explanation of her tremendous "preparedness" and every other, native answer, such as this one, is worth studying:

"Most of the American and British friends know that we are obliged, on account of our continental position, to remain armed. Many suspect us of having a taste for arms, by tradition, and from having such a different history to theirs. They like to reproach us for never recommending, at international meetings, anything but the policy of disarmament, and of still trusting to disarm force, which is out of fashion on other continents."

"We should have much to answer to this, but especially three essential things. 'First of all it is not true that a persistence in military armament is a fact only in France. All the nations which border on Germany are armed and if we look at their military institutions, also armed, Belgium, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, have all military burdens as heavy in proportion as that of France.'

"In the second place, a guarantee of military and diplomatic security can only be in case of aggression was on day proposed to France and was immediately accepted. 'Finally,' says the writer, 'it is impossible to consider land disarmament without considering naval disarmament at the same time.'

Women Urged To Wear Their Club Buttons

Wear your Appleton Womans club buttons all during the convention. The Appleton Womans club is the largest organization in the Wisconsin federation and all club members are interested in the activities of your club. For that reason they will be very glad to talk to you about its activities and make friends with you. The committee on badges has provided Appleton Womans club buttons for the use of the members of the local club. Every woman in Appleton who is a member is urged to procure her button at the club rooms at Gloudeans, Geenen's or Pettibone's where booths for their distribution have been established. Delegates, visitors and officers of the federation began to arrive on Tuesday, so many of the club members began wearing their buttons early Tuesday morning. The buttons did not arrive until Monday and were put on sale at once.

It recently opened a store in that city and will have one ready for business at Green Bay the latter part of the week. Paul Masters of Columbus, O., will be manager of the Appleton store.

MAYOR AND ALDERMEN WANT CONVENTION HERE

Mayor J. A. Hawes, and a large delegation of aldermen and city officials will leave Wednesday morning by automobile for Janesville, to attend the annual convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities. The delegates will begin at once to stir up enthusiasm for Appleton as the next meeting place, and hope to win out before the sessions end.

Mrs. Mary Kohls and son George of Lesterville, S. D., are visiting at the home of John B. Letter, 773 State-st.

Cook Oysters Carefully

Oysters should be cooked as carefully as eggs. They contain an albuminous substance that must be slowly cooked at a low temperature. Just like the white of egg. Excessive heat hardens and toughens and therefore makes an oyster hard to digest.

Oysters fried in deep fat are so protected by their coating of crumbs and egg and are exposed to the excessive heat for such a short time that the oyster itself is properly cooked and easily digested.

Fried Oysters
Eighteen large oysters, 1 lemon, cracker dust, cracker crumbs, 1 egg, salt and pepper.
Wash, drain and pick over oysters. Sprinkle with the strained juice of the lemon. Season the cracker dust with salt and pepper. Roll each oyster carefully in the cracker dust and let stand a few minutes to absorb. Roll again in the cracker dust, dip in the egg slightly beaten with 1 tablespoon of water and roll in the cracker crumbs. Fry about three minutes in deep hot fat. Drain on brown paper and serve at once. It is a saving of time and money to fry oysters in deep fat rather than in a small amount of fat in a frying pan.

Pigs in Blankets
Twelve large oysters, 12 thin slices of bacon, tooth picks, lemon juice.

Wash, drain and pick over oysters. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Roll each oyster in a slice of bacon and fasten with toothpicks. Heat a frying pan very hot and put in the prepared oysters. Cook, turning frequently until the bacon is crisp and brown all over.

CLUB WOMEN OPEN STATE MEET HERE

Mrs. O. P. Watts, Madison; Mrs. E. H. VanOstrand, Madison; Miss Rose C. Swart, Oshkosh; Mrs. F. T. Blesch, Green Bay; Mrs. R. B. Johns, Antigo; Mrs. J. H. Somerville, Superior; Mrs. Louise Brand, Milwaukee; Mrs. E. E. Soderburg, Sheboygan; Mrs. A. E. Soderburg, LaCrosse; Mrs. Nellie Keadie Jones, Madison; Mrs. Joshua Hoggins, Marinette; Mrs. R. C. Rowley, Ashland; Mrs. H. S. Richards, Madison; Mrs. Louis Kahlenburg, Madison; Mrs. Paul Halline, DePere; Mrs. J. A. Strathearn, Manitowish; Mrs. C. E. Buell, Madison.

Registration Wednesday
Registration of delegates for the convention will begin at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Congregational church and continue throughout the day. Mrs. August Meyer, chairman of the registration committee and Miss Carrie Morgan, chairman of the credentials committee will have charge. All delegates and visitors are expected to register. Appleton club members who attend the convention are expected to register as visitors, while Appleton delegates will also present their credentials and register in their official capacity. Each delegate and visitor will receive their official badge while all members of Appleton Womans club are expected to procure their club badges.

Material for some of the exhibits arrived early in the week and were being placed on Tuesday. Mrs. James Wood is chairman of the exhibit committee. Mrs. D. J. O'Connor has charge of the information committee which will have a booth at the place of meeting where delegates and visitors may procure information which they may desire. All trains on Wednesday will be met by members of the automobile and train committee of which Mrs. Harry Ingold is chairman. Delegates will be taken directly to the church to register.

Beginning Wednesday noon, luncheon and dinner will be served to the visitors by the Mount Olive ladies in the dining room of their new church on the corner of Onelda and Franklin-sts. Announcements will be made each morning and afternoon telling how many local people may take advantage of having their meals served by the Mount Olive ladies. The accommodation was planned for the visitors, but should there be additional accommodations for Appleton women and their families, announcement will be made about two hours before the meal.

Welcome Delegates
Major J. A. Hawes, Hugh Corbett and Mrs. D. O. Kinsman will welcome the delegates on Wednesday at the opening session. The business of the afternoon will include reports of the officers and committees, an address by Miss Elizabeth Kelly on "What Wisconsin Has Done in Near East Relief" and the address of the afternoon by Mrs. J. J. Blaine. Attention of Appleton club women is especially called to the first meeting when as many as possible should be out to welcome the guests to the city.

Wisconsin federation silver jubilee service in Lawrence Memorial chapel Wednesday evening will be of especial interest to club women because it is the celebration of twenty-five years of club women's service to Wisconsin. Two tableaux prepared and presented by Mrs. Mary Margaret Arens are to be features of the occasion while Mrs. Charles Morris of Berlin, the founder of the federation and its first president, Mrs. Arthur Neville, of Green Bay, the second president, Mrs. Henry Youmans of Waukesha will be the speakers.

John R. Commons, perhaps the greatest authority in the world on the Thursday afternoon on "The Present Industrial Situation." Men are especially invited to hear Dr. Commons as they invited to hear Mrs. Thomas G. Winter's address "Citizen or Politician" on Thursday night and Mrs. Percy V. Pennybaker on Friday evening.

HUSBAND CHARGED WITH BEATING WIFE

Charged with assault and battery on the person of his wife Mrs. Eliza Glassnap necessitating her removal to St. Elizabeth hospital for treatment Monday afternoon, Henry Glassnap of 350 Second-ave. was arraigned in municipal court Tuesday morning.

He pleaded not guilty to the charge and the case was adjourned for trial next Tuesday. Mrs. Glassnap was reported to be improving at the hospital Tuesday afternoon.

The Misses Margaret Gosz and Caroline Wells autoed to Fond du Lac and Oshkosh Sunday.

DYED HER FADED SKIRT TO MAKE CHILD A DRESS

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple that any woman can dye or tint faded, shabby skirts, dresses, waists, coats, sweaters, stockings, hangings, draperies; everything like new. Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is guaranteed, even if you have never dyed before. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade or run.

Adventures of the Twins

Oliver Roberts Barton

Sprinkle-Blow Returns
After Nancy and Nick had taken the poor lizards back to their home by the barn door, they returned to Whispering Forest, where they met Mr. Sprinkle-Blow with his lasso waiting for them.

"Did you catch Old Whizzy Tornado," they asked, noticing how tired the Fairy Weatherman looked.

Sprinkle-Blow shook his head. "No," he said, "the old fellow went too fast for me. My magic umbrella can only go a hundred miles an hour, and he can go about two hundred. But he knew that I was after him, so he hurried across forty states and a dozen rivers and two oceans and some mountains to his home in the Cave of the Winds at the End of the Earth, and slammed his door. But I don't think he'll come out again for awhile, so the best thing we can do is to hunt up all these lost creatures and take them home."

The three of them got busy. The poor Zoo animals were scattered all through Whispering Forest, some of them with homes, but more without. The monkey boys were found in Col. Coon's house in the tree, where Whizzy had blown them. Col. Coon could not imagine what or who they were and wouldn't go home, and slept two nights in the sugar-bush. Mr. and Mrs. Pelican landed on the edge of Purple Creek, near the Willow-Twelve Pool, and as Blackie-Bass and his friends said afterwards, never had they seen such appetites. They vowed they'd never complain of Col. Coon and Marty Mink again.

The lion scared everybody to death with his mighty roar, and when he wandered up and down the forest paths, never was there such a scurrying. The tiger and the elephant, the llama and the moose, all were wandering round with no place to go. Whispering Forest had turned into a perfect jungle. (To Be Continued)

Have You Piles?

Then You Have Something To Learn

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause. Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy. His prescription is HEM-ROID, a tablet medicine, taken internally, that is now sold by druggists generally. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 100 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent and then decided it should be sold under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands of people, and should do the same for you—it seldom fails.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

CONSIDER your object in buying a phonograph. It is to bring true music to your home—the living performances of great singers and instrumentalists, of great bands and orchestras.

Over five thousand times, before more than five million people, the New Edison has stood side by side with the living artist in a direct comparison test, and no one has been able to distinguish between the living performance and the Re-Created performance.

The New Edison is the only phonograph or talking machine that sustains this test. It is the only phonograph that has actually proved beyond question that it gives you true music.

MYSTERY DOG WATCHES
FOR MASTER'S RETURN

Waukesha.—A dog is furnishing Waukesha county's latest mystery.

Residents in the neighborhood of Waukesha beach are puzzled by the presence of an unknown coach dog, declared to be very valuable, who refuses to accept food which is offered to him, and who spends every day on the state road, apparently awaiting the return of his master.

The only clue to the dog's identity was a telephone call received on the day he was first noticed. Some one asked if a lost coach dog had been seen.

Shortly afterward the animal, put in an appearance, but efforts to locate the owner were futile. Neighbors took kindly interest in the dog and offered him choice bones, but he refused to eat. Instead he would run away in the direction of the state highway and peer longingly at machines rolling by. At night he always returns.

EX-DISTRICT ATTORNEY
GIVES STARTLING FACTS

Hon. J. M. Clarke, Well Known
Attorney Says He Wouldn't Take One Thousand Dollars for What He Has Learned

"I would not take one thousand dollars for the good Garren's Tonic did for me."

This statement was made a few days ago by Hon. J. M. Clarke, well known attorney, whose offices are located in the Caswell Block. Mr. Clarke resides at 2430 Wells-st., in Milwaukee and has practiced his profession in this state for thirty-five years. He was formerly District Attorney.

"For the past year," said Mr. Clarke, "I had been in a badly run down condition. I lost nearly all the strength and energy I had, and I could neither eat nor sleep to do any good. I was badly constipated and felt tired and fagged out all the time."

"Two bottles of Garren's Tonic changed things completely around for me. I have a splendid appetite now, enjoy everything I eat and I can sleep all night like a farm hand. I awaken mornings refreshed and feel just fine all during the day. Garren's Tonic proved to be just what I needed—made me feel like a brand new man. It's just wonderful."

"If anybody wants to know anything about this medicine just send them to see me at my office, and I'll tell them just what I'm telling you, that it's the greatest thing of its kind in the world. It is just the thing that hundreds of people right here need and should begin taking right now."

Garren's Tonic is sold in Appleton by the Schintz Bros. Co., in Kaukauna by E. A. Meyer, in Greenville by H. H. Schulze, in Dale by Abends Pharmacy, in Bear Creek by John W. Stettler, in Seymour by S. G. McCord, and by the leading druggists in every city.

NEW GYM SCHEDULE FOR "Y" BOYS DEPARTMENT

A change in the gymnasium schedule of the Y. M. C. A. was made to accommodate the large membership in the boys division. Hereafter the employed boys will have three regular "gym" periods, on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 6:15 to 7:15. The high school boys will have swimming periods on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at 4 o'clock.

The boys department opened Saturday morning with a large new class of preps. After the swimming period the boys were given a movie show which will be a feature of the Saturday program this winter. The pioneers assembled at 1:30 and took a short hike and tests in pioneer work.

MEET IN CHICAGO TO DISCUSS RAIL STRIKE

Paul A. Hackbert left for Chicago Tuesday to attend a meeting of the transportation organizations of the country relative to the proposed strike. He will represent the railroad agents and telegraphers of Wisconsin. Two and one-half millions of people will be represented at the meeting. The strike vote has been taken and it is now up to the committees to see what action is to be taken. The meeting was called at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning and will be in session two days.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB HOLDS MEETING HERE

About 30 members of the Fox River Valley Home Economics Club attended the home economics conference at the vocational school, Saturday. Routine business was taken up. Miss Margaret Johnson of Madison was in charge of the meeting and gave an interesting talk. Miss Mabel Burke was appointed as delegate to attend the regional conference to be held in Milwaukee in November. The local club will affiliate with the American Home Economics club.

Luncheon was served at the Sherman House after the business meeting.

EXPECT 40,000 TONS OF BEETS AT SUGAR PLANT

Converting this section's annual crop of sugarbeets into sugar is the 90-day task confronting the refinery of the Green Bay Sugar Refinery company which opened Monday.

Beets are already arriving at the refinery at the rate of 60 carloads a day, according to reports from Green Bay. More than 40,000 tons of beets will be refined by the mill this year, according to estimates. Between 150 and 160 men will be employed in this work.

K. C. BANQUET IS TO START ON TIME

The banquet of the Knights of Columbus at the Elk club Tuesday evening, which is to be a feature of the celebration in commemoration of the landing of Columbus, will begin promptly at 7 o'clock so as to make it possible for the Rev. Father Noonan, president of Marquette university, the speaker of the evening, to return to Milwaukee on the 9:30 train.

Major F. Ryan Duffy of Fond du Lac, who was to have been the speaker, notified Attorney John Morgan that because of an important criminal action on trial at Jefferson in which he was one of the attorneys, it would be impossible for him to be present, and the head of Marquette university was secured to take his place.

The celebration will open with the banquet which will be followed by a program and dancing.

Wrong Interpretation
Editor Post-Crescent—May I not congratulate you on your Editorial of September 29th, relative to the governorship. There is an old saying that "Open Confessions are good for the Soul," and I am more than pleased to know that you have at last seen the light, that you are willing to judge John Blaine on his record as Governor of Wisconsin, rather than his political rating and affiliations. You stated that you believe he is sincere in his desire to give Wisconsin a constructive economical administration. (As those of us who know and have supported him knew he would endeavor to do). However, the last paragraph in your article sounds rather inconsistent. You state that you might withdraw your support only on condition that he received the support of the Non-Partisan League or Senator LaFollette.

I have presumed that you knew that Senator LaFollette has consistently stood for the same principles that you are commending Governor Blaine for. No candidate for political office has any control or voice over who shall or shall not give him their support. As you so well state the one and only question is "JUDGE THE MAN ON HIS RECORD" regardless of what faction or individual is for or against him.

Sincerely Yours,
C. B. Ballard.

Appleton, Wis., Oct. 5, 1921.

Editor's Note—The last paragraph of the editorial from which Mr. Ballard refers to read as follows: "Certainly this much is obvious, that as between the faction in the Republican party led by former Governor Philipp and that led by Senator LaFollette there is little choice. We would much prefer Mr. Blaine as governor to the blind acceptance of a selection made by the Philipp contingent. The Seamon candidacy was a

ST. JOSEPH SCHOOL IS TO PUBLISH JOURNAL

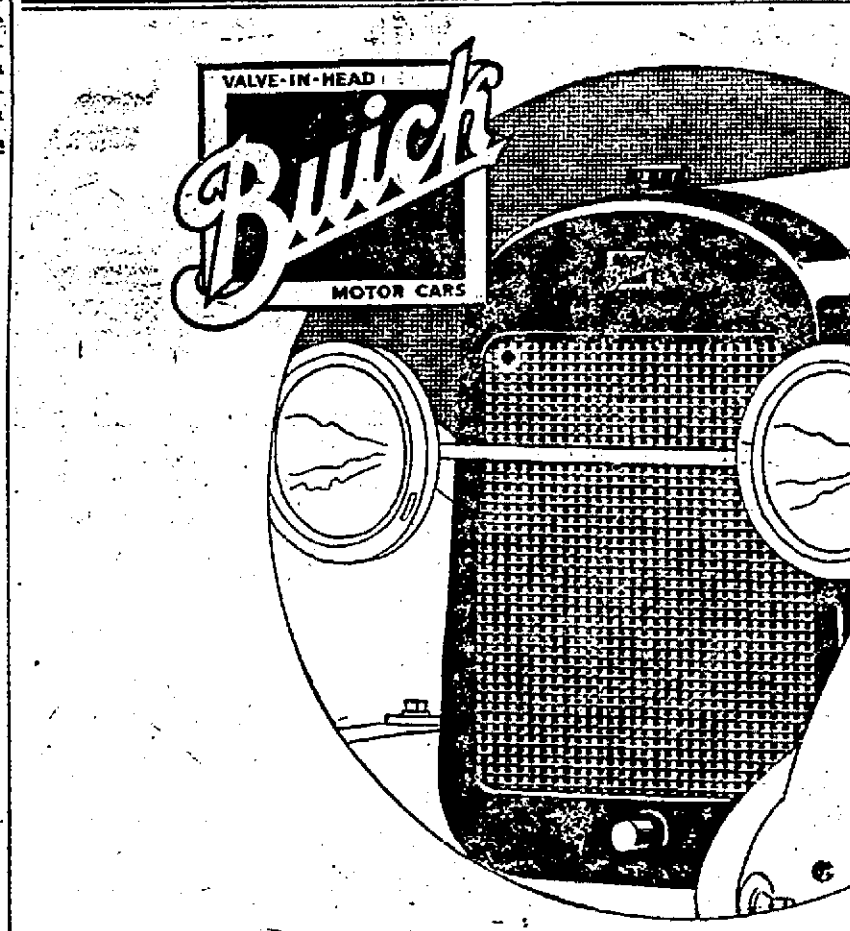

Basketball has been introduced in the eighth grade of St. Joseph school this fall and will be part of the regular gymnasium work. Teams of girls and boys will be organized and a series of games arranged. Pupils are practicing daily in the gymnasium at St. Joseph hall, where the games will be played.

The pupils will also issue a school paper, the first copy of which will make its appearance in a few days. It will be a monthly publication and will be filled with school news, short stories and general news. A competent editorial staff has been selected and the first copy is awaited by pupils and parents will keep interest.

The variance between the statement made in this editorial and Mr. Ballard's interpretation is obvious.

TRAIL MEETING TO BE HELD NOV. 14

Representatives from Appleton will be among the 100 members of the Yellowstone Trail association who will attend the Wisconsin state meeting at Stevens Point, Nov. 14.

Assurance that the meeting would be held in Stevens Point was given recently when that city agreed to meet its annual assessment and pay up arrears of past assessments. The last meeting of the state association was held in Oshkosh in 1920 and at that time Stevens Point extended an invitation for the next session.

All parts of the state will be represented at this meeting. Sessions will be held in the city council chambers in the morning and afternoon.

TWO COUNTY NURSES ARE HONORED AT CONVENTION

Miss Bertha Schultz, Outagamie co. nurse, was elected second vice-president of the Wisconsin Association of Graduate Nurses which held its twelfth annual meeting in Milwaukee of last week. Miss Agnes Reid of Madison was elected president.

Miss Jennie Bou of Kaukauna was elected a member of the executive board of the association. Other officers elected were: Ella Ingerson of La Crosse, first vice president; Minnie Gettes of Milwaukee, secretary; Margaret Tackenhorn of Milwaukee, treasurer.

New members elected to the executive board were: Lina Ahlstrom, Eau Claire; Mrs. Elizabeth Casey, Ripon; Amelia Olson of Eau Claire; Mrs. A. Phalen of Kenosha; Sister Batholomew of Marshfield and Mrs. H. Patridge of Milwaukee.

PRESBYTERIANS EXTEND CALL TO OCONTO MAN

Members of Memorial Presbyterian church at their meeting on Sunday extended a call to the Rev. Ernest Wright of Oconto, to accept the pastorate of the local church. The call, which is to go to the Oconto man today, was signed by Trustee James A. Wood and Elder J. E. Bond.

Mr. Wright was called here to succeed the Rev. Leo R. Burrows who resigned several months ago.

A LARGE number of women's ailments are not surgical ones. Serious displacements or radical changes have not yet taken place.

A tiny part in a fine clock may become loose and cause the clock to gain or lose. If not attended to in time, the part may fall from its place and cause serious trouble. So it is with women's ailments, they start from simple causes; but if allowed to continue, produce serious conditions.

When the warning symptoms are first noted, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present troublesome ailment, and to prevent the development of serious trouble.

North Troy, N. Y.—"When I was a young girl I had a severe female trouble. Mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after taking several bottles I was strong and well. When my daughter got married she was feeling miserable and I recommended your medicine. She is greatly improved in health and has a beautiful baby boy four months old. So you see this letter comes from the third generation and you may use it as you wish."—Mrs. R. M. GREENAWAY, 657 4th Ave., North Troy, N. Y.

Hutchinson, Kan.—"I was about 13 years old when I developed a female weakness. My mother took me to a doctor and I doctored for several months. I was too sick to do anything, was as thin as could be, and my complexion was yellow. Mother had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it had helped her so much that she got some for me and before I had finished the second bottle I was feeling fine and have been ever since."—Mrs. J. A. YANKS OUTA LUCK EVEN IF THEY DID WIN THIRD GAME

Babe Ruth Warned to Keep
Out of Series—Running
Short of Pitchers

By Henry L. Farrell
New York.—Up again after being almost down, the New York Yankees are still hitting the bums.

Babe Ruth is out of six again. His lame arm and his lame leg are hamper as a result of yesterday's activities and he has been warned by his physicians that he may work permanent damage to himself by continuing in the game.

When the Yanks and Giants draw up for the sixth game of the great series, the portly figure of the great Bambino may be missing from left field.

"I don't want him to play if he is taking such a risk but we couldn't keep him out of the game yesterday. He forced his way in," Miller Llug-gins, the little manager of the Yanks, said.

Ruth practically won the fifth game for the Yanks. It was not one of his home run acts but a little tiny bunt but he bowled the Giants with it and before they got to their feet the ball game was gone.

The Yanks again this morning were seven to five favorites in the betting but not much was being wagered. The American league champions now have a three to two advantage in the world's series but the margin will be less without the king slugger in the lineup.

Total receipts for the five games have reached the record sum of $78,573. For the rest of the series the players and the umpires will not draw a cut of the receipts. The players will divide the record sum of $293,522.33.

The players on the winning club will get $5,265 each and the losers $3,510. Each of the four umpires will get about $2,914. The highest sum divided previously among the players was in 1919 when the White Sox and the Cincinnati Reds split $260,349.66.

Sport Views And News

Hoyt, the youthful pitching ace of the Yankee hurling staff turned in his second win of the world series against the Giants. Although touched up for ten hits, Hoyt kept the bingles well scattered and he proved to be master of the situation at all times. Take for instance, the last of the ninth. Rawlings, the first man up doubled but he made Smith pop out to Wagon and turned back Snyder and Burns via the strike out route.

Babe Ruth crossed the Giants in field in Monday's game by dropping down a bunt and beating it out in spite of a sore leg. The much famed Bambino is living up to his reputation in the diamond classic. Although a flit candidate for the hospital list, the King of Swat has kept in the midst of the fracas and has got away with his share of glory. For this exhibition of grit, he is a bigger man than ever before in the baseball world.

The Darned Sox sure are having a picnic all by their lonesome at the expense of the Cubs in the Chicago city series. The American leaguers can run wild in the Windy City baseball feud. The Cubs haven't been getting a good brand of pitching and this is probably the main reason for their poor showing. The games have been drawing well, about 20,000 fans witnessing the Sabbath Day argument.

The Louisville fans surely did make a show of themselves at the game between the Orioles and Colonels. With their team trailing about a half dozen runs and hopelessly outclassed, the crowd swarmed on the field and tried to take their spite out on the umpires who had given a couple of close decisions against Louisville. It was about the poorest display of sportsmanship that has ever been pulled off in a minor league work.

SOX WHIP CUBS IN 5 STRAIGHT GAMES

Chicago, Ill.—The Chicago White Sox and Chicago Cubs today split $36,352, the players share of the gate receipts of the city series which ended yesterday when the Sox beat the Cubs the fifth straight game with a score of 5 to 5.

Each Sox player received $1,091 and each Cub $727.

Seventy-six thousand fans attended the city series and paid $71,000.

JOE LYNCH GOES BACK TO HIS OLD MANAGER

New York.—Joe Lynch, the skinny New Yorker who won the beanbag weight title from Pete Herman here last winter and lost it back to him in August, whereat he split with his manager, Eddie Meade, has signed a new contract, for three years, with Meade and has set out looking for difficulty with Johnny Buff who has since captured the derby from Herman. Lynch and Meade together made $75,000 with the title during Lynch's short reign and are said to be again receptive to money of thick dimensions. The split was a tragedy in Hell's Kitchen on New York's west side where Lynch first learned what fists were for, and the business men of the neighborhood effected the reconciliation.

Many Grid Stars In Pro Football

The life of a collegiate gridder is a short one, made up of from two to three years of strenuous, short seasons. Then the old sparkie is supposed to flicker out.

Supposed to, but does it? The old heroes of the pliskin still have the fighting spirit and all they need, is a place to exercise it, to have it recognized. And their harbor is the professional field.

Thorpe, Brickley, Guyon, Harley! Why should they sit down after what might be called an amateur training? They have been through the mill, following instructions. Why stop when they are ready to use their own initiative and improve their department of the game for the benefit of those that are to take their places on these various colleges?

Thorpe, Greatest
Thorpe is the greatest professional football player today. With his old Carlisle backfield of Guyon and Calac, he could probably clean up any amateur crew in the country.

And Charles Brickley, the greatest drop kicker who ever lived, can't forget the game by locking himself in a broker's office. He is a pro and plays with all the old time energy, not with muscle, but by outwitting the other fellow with methods he learned in his amateur days.

Professional football today includes 60 All American men picked on mythical elevens since the days of 1915.

Best Chance
Professional football gives the gridder his best chance—his chance to use the knowledge gained in the too brief college season.

The pros are battling for a place in the spotlight alongside organized baseball.

This popularity has been attained since 1901, when the old Panhandles and the Pittsburgh Duquesnes were the first to organize.

The old Massillon Tigers, organized in 1904, and the Canton Bulldogs, organized in the same year, defeated Chicago University and the famous Carlisle Indians in 1905 and 1906. Later, Jim Thorpe joined and managed the Bulldogs. He led them to two titles in 1915 and 1919. Akron Pros under Elgie Tobin, Penn State quarter, won the title in 1920.

Debut Year
Debut year is making the greatest bid toward a title, although Canton has strengthened its lineup with All-American men.

Chic Harley, Pete Stinchcomb and Tarzan Taylor, Ohio State's great stars, are with Debut year this year.

Fritz Pollard, Brown's great All-American negro star of 1915 and 1916, is the outstanding star of the Akron Pros.

Russ Bailey, West Virginia's All-American center who opposed Princeton in that famous 25-to-0 victory, is with the Pros. King, a full-back from the same team, is Bailey's teammate at fullback.

Charley Way, Stinchcomb's teammate on last year's All-American, and a Penn State man, is at Canton.

Bob Higgins, Penn State's 1919 All-American end, is with the same team, as is Henry Washington and Jefferson All-American tackle, West, Colgate All-American tackle, Feeney, Notre Dame center, Seidel, Pitt guard, Carroll, Washington and Jefferson end, and Kempton, Yale quarterback.

Lud Wray and Little of Penn State and Heine Miller of Pennsylvania are playing professional football. These men have been named on All-American teams.

Brickley, Too
Charley Brickley, Harvard's great kicking star of a few years back, has been with a professional team at New Haven.

Bob Nash, Rutgers star tackle of 1915 and 1916, was a star with Akron last season. He will be with Buffalo this year.

Thorpe of Carlisle had his famous Indian backfield—Guyon of Carlisle and Georgia Tech, and Calac of Carlisle—at Canton last year. They'll be at Cleveland this season.

LAWRENCE GRID MENTORS DRILL MEN IN DEFENSE

Team Renews Hard Work in Preparation for Conference Battles

Lawrence college football instructors this week are concentrating their efforts on teaching defensive play to their proteges. Weaknesses displayed in Saturday's game with Stevens Point will be pointed out and every effort will be made to improve blocking and tackling before the first conference game.

Lawrence has been playing "under wraps" so far this season. The team hasn't shown anything in the way of offensive play except straight football but from now on, much time will be devoted to drilling the men in new plays.

Coach McChesney is not blind to the fact that Ripon, which is regarded as the most formidable opponent Lawrence must meet this year, will come here with one of the strongest teams in its history. The team is being pointed for the game here and it is assured that it will be a contest worth going miles to see.

The surprising thing about this year's team is the development of young players. Two or three men who have never played football before are showing all the skill of veterans and before the end of the season they will be making the regulars work hard to keep their places.

STARS LINED UP FOR BASKETBALL TEAM THIS WINTER

Manager Dame Secures Services of Best Players in This Section

George C. Dame, manager of the Appleton Basketball team which will represent this city in a professional league organized a few weeks ago, has lined up several of the best known players in the city and is about ready to begin practice. The first game will be played about Dec. 1. The armory has been secured for the games.

Among the stars signed up by Mr. Dame are Junior Taylor, former high school and college star; Bill Waterpool, Bill Smith, Myrtle Basing and Gerhard Kubitz, Lawrence stars. These men are among the best basketball players in the state and will give Appleton an exceptionally strong team.

A meeting of the players with Mr. Dame is scheduled for Tuesday evening to discuss training plans and make other preparations for the season.

HILL WILLING TO MEET MARTINSON

Grappler Says He Will Take on the Big Dane After Two Weeks' Training

"The bigger they are the harder they fall" is the way the late Bob Fitzsimmons used to feel when he was matched against a huge opponent. George Hill, who arrived here Sunday to prepare for the wrestling season, feels the same way. When informed that Paul Martinson, the big Chicago Dane, was camping on his trail Hill made it known that Martinson can have a match any time he wants one provided the fans want to see the men in action again. Hill says he can get into tip top condition in two weeks.

The only trouble with a Martinson match is that the fans soured on him last summer when he grappled with Freberg at Brandt park. The match looked so much like a hippodrome that the fans became disgusted and there is some doubt if Martinson will be

There is Game Enough for All

Five million Americans will go hunting this fall, and most of them will have "good luck." From the northern "breeding grounds" a myriad of wild fowl is moving southward along every river, and coast. Upland game and big game are reported abundant.

This abundance of game is a triumph of good news. In 1920 there was not as much game in America as now. The Federal migratory bird law saved the wild fowl. Good state laws "are saving" the other game. There is still much to be done. In 20 years game will be twice as abundant as now if hunters will obey the law.

There is no excuse for not knowing the law. An attractive pamphlet with a picture cover, containing a digest of all the game laws in America has been prepared by the Biological Survey.

This is a free Government publication, and our Washington Information Bureau will secure a copy for any one who sends two cents in stamps for return postage. In filling out the coupon print name and address or be sure to write plainly.

KLAN LEADER MAY DEFEND HIS ORDER

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Imperial Wizard William Joseph Simmons of the Ku Klux Klan will be allowed to defend his "invisible empire" before the house rules committee Tuesday, if he desires, Chairman Campbell, Kansas, said Monday.

The committee still was awaiting definite word as to whether Simmons would attend. If Simmons comes, he will appear before the committee voluntarily as no invitations have been sent out for the meeting tomorrow which will be held to determine whether a special committee should be appointed to investigate the Klan.

STORMS SHATTER HOPE OF BUMPER CROPS THIS YEAR

Government Estimates Show Heavy Shrinkage in Corn and Wheat Yield

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—A bumper corn crop in sight Sept. 1 was decreased heavily by damage done by storms and insects during September, the department of agriculture reports.

The crop shows a shrinkage of 25, 813,000 bushels during the month, leaving a total estimate on Oct. 1 of 3,063,163,000 bushels.

Despite the damage done the corn crop, this year is the next largest in the history of the country, being exceeded only by the yield of last year.

"Much corn was thrown down by the heavy September storms through the central states and is suffering serious damage from mold and rot, this condition being aggravated by severe attacks of ear worms in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and adjoining states," the department said.

Losses amount to 17,000,000 bushels each in Illinois and Missouri and 5,000,000 in Iowa. Gains, however, were reported in northern states.

Wheat Crop Short

The American wheat crop for 1921 was estimated at 740,655,000 bushels, the department announced.

The estimated wheat yield is a decrease of 13,203,000 since the estimate of Sept. 1.

Winter wheat production was placed at 543,879,000. Spring wheat was placed at 196,776,000.

The average wheat yield per acre was given as 13.1 bushels, compared with 13.8 last year. The average price was given as $1.056 as compared with $2.143 last year.

The average corn yield was 29 bushels per acre with an average price of 51 cents. Last year the average yield was 30.9 and the price $1.213.

Total oats production was estimated at 1,078,519,000 bushels; barley, 162,399,000; rye 64,332,000.

The white potato crop was estimated at 345,844,000 bushels.

MEMORIAL TREES TO LINE HIGHWAY

Road Between Milwaukee and Rogers Park, Ill., to be Planted by Kiwanis

By United Press Leased Wire
Waukegan, Ill.—Trees in memory of the great war dead will be planted on highway lines between Rogers Park, Ill., and Milwaukee, according to plans made by Kiwanis clubs here.

Kiwanis clubs of the following cities are active in the movement: Rogers Park, Evanston, Waukegan, Itasca, and Milwaukee.

James G. Welch, Waukegan, was named chairman of the Illinois district, and Matt Dudgeon, Milwaukee, head of the Wisconsin district.

Trees will be planted 60 feet apart along the highways and there will be one for each fallen hero. Bronze tablets set in stone will bear the names of the dead.

URNS TO PEAT FOR ITS FUEL SUPPLY

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul, Minn.—Representatives of St. Paul businessmen said the development of the great peat bogs in Carlton county at Crofta would mean millions to Minnesota.

Minnesota's vast acreage of peat, which is more than half of the 20,000,000 acres in the United States, will provide the basis for fuel for domestic and industrial use within the next few years, they said.

The marketable quantity of peat in the state is placed at 7,000,000,000 tons and the fuel is now made at a cost of $5 per ton, saving the people of Minnesota thousands annually.

The development will give Minnesota independent fuel supply, the investigators say.

BOOTLEGGER AIDES ARE ANARCHISTS

Haynes Scores Those Who Violate Laws — Raid Polo Grounds and Rum Centers

New York.—Spectacular raids by federal prohibition agents, in an effort to halt the encroachments of organized bootlegger bands, were being planned by dry officials here Monday following the visit of Commissioner Roy A. Haynes.

The raids, it was understood, will be directed against booze stores where liquor is being gathered for sale in Washington during the disarmament conference, and cafes from which whiskey is being withdrawn now for disposal to world series fans.

War on the bootleggers was declared by Haynes in a speech in New York, in which he denounced as anarchists those persons who aid and abet the rum sellers and help them evade the law. All persons who drink illicit liquor may be included in this category.

When the conference opens at 11 o'clock, questions of procedure will be taken up and settled. Then Lloyd George will make a statement on his government's position, and Arthur Griffith, head of the Sinn Fein delegation, will reply.

GOVERNMENTS ARE READY TO DRAFT IRISH PEACE PLAN

Momentous Conference to End Seven Century Grievance Opens Tuesday

London.—Michael Collins, "commander-in-chief of the Irish republic army," who for nearly two years has waged guerrilla warfare against British forces in Ireland until the armistice brought cessation of hostilities, arrived here Monday to take part in the formal conference between Sinn Fein delegates and the British cabinet committee at 10 Downing street Tuesday.

Final consultations before the opening of the momentous Irish peace conference were held by both Sinn Fein and British delegations Monday. Arrangements concerning agenda of the conference were discussed. The Sinn Fein delegation, headed by Michael Collins, arrived in London Monday night.

The British cabinet committee, headed by Lord Curzon, arrived in London Monday night.

Tourists Still Making Use Of Camping Site

Auto Travelers Express Appreciation of City's Hospitality

Tourists are still making use of the public camping grounds at Africa park and the indications are they will continue to do so until it freezes up. Friday night a family of Hollanders consisting of the parents and five children arrived in the park while it was raining and Capt. George Merkel, who has charge of it, immediately offered it the use of the log cabin.

The family was on its way from Washington to Greene, N. Y., where it intended to locate on a farm. A quantity of waste firewood was gathered up and the evening meal was prepared in the open fireplace.

Four camping parties occupied the park the following night. One party consisted of Dr. Hurd of Chicago and a writer of the Chicago News. They were headed for the northern part of the state on a hunting trip.

One of the other parties was a group of southern people who were on their way home from the northern lake region, where they spent the summer. Only one camping party occupied the grounds Monday night.

Capt. Merkel has taken pains to extend the hospitality of the city to all campers and to make them feel welcome and at home. Without exception they have shown their appreciation and some of them have written to city authorities after reaching home. Below is a letter just received from P. Jay J. Frise, vice president of C. F. Childs & Co. of Chicago.

"City of Appleton, Gentlemen:

"Pape's Diapiesin" gives Relief in Five Minutes

"Pape's Diapiesin" is the quickest, surest relief for Indigestion, Gases, Flatulence, Heartburn, Sourness, Fermentation or Stomach Distress caused by acidity. A few tablets give almost immediate stomach relief and shortly the stomach is corrected so you can eat favorite foods without fear. Large case costs only few cents at drug store. Millions helped annually.

"SWEETHEART" OF WORLD DESIRES TO TAKE LONG REST

Paris.—The "world's sweetheart" is going to be "not at home" to her thousands of French and American tourist admirers for the next month.

Douglas Fairbanks, husband of Mary Pickford, announced the famous film actress was "completely worn out" and extremely nervous.

"She is not confined to her bed, nor to her room," Fairbanks said, "but she must get some rest from now on, and not try to receive people. For the next month Mary must take it easy."

GAP BETWEEN WOOD
AND MILLS WIDERPulpwood Problem of Wisconsin Mills Not as Serious as Eastern Situation

New York—Forty-five mills in Wisconsin consumed in 1920 a total of 661,781 cords of pulpwood, at a total cost of $11,092,346. The total consumption of the United States was 6,114,072 cords, valued at $116,435,720 and Wisconsin ranks third in both the quantity and the value of the wood consumed.

The United States in that year, however, imported $85,000,000 worth of newsprint paper, $39,000,000 worth of woodpulp, and $28,000,000 worth of pulpwood to operate its paper mills, while in 1918 the importation of Canadian pulpwood was only $14,000,000.

These striking figures relative to the paper industry, are included in a pamphlet just published by the American Paper and Pulp association, and prepared by the United States forest service in operation with the paper industry.

These figures, says the forest service in analyzing the statistics given in this complete review of the use of wood in papermaking, are evidence of the need for reforestation of the cut over lands of the United States.

In its summary the forest service says:

"We cannot count upon reducing the amount of pulp used. That would be not only undesirable but probably impossible as well. We cannot count upon Canada indefinitely as a source of supply, for the Canadian forests are no more limitless than our own have proved to be.

 "The great eastern pulp mills cannot be moved to the timber of Alaska or the west coast.

"The trouble is, in brief, that we have mills without forests in the east and forests without mills in the west.
 The obvious solution will be to supply the deficiencies in both parts of the country. More mills will no doubt be located eventually on the Pacific slope and in Alaska.

But what of the east, with its heavy investments of capital and its millions of waste acres?

"Reforestation will take not only skill, energy, and money, but most serious of all, many years must elapse before the east can be put on a thoroughly self-supporting basis.
 Yet there is no choice left to us. The work must be undertaken. We must have pulp, and for every year of delay we must pay increasingly heavy penalties for neglecting to restore the forests as fast as the wood is consumed."

The detailed figures for Wisconsin which are thus made available through the cooperation of the paper industry and the federal forest service, show that only four of the fifteen states which use pulpwood in large quantities were able to secure the wood at a lower cost per cord, and this is partly because of the manner in which Wisconsin is utilizing wood not readily available in other states, hemlock particularly.

GRAIN ADVANCES
DUE TO SCARCITY

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—Grain prices advanced on the Chicago board of trade Tuesday. There wasn't a large amount of wheat for sale and there was considerable buying for cash interests. Receipts were small. Provisions were irregular.

Wheat, December, opened up 1 1/2 at 1.16 1/2, and later gained 1 1/2. Corn, December, after opening off 1 1/2 at 46 1/2, gained 1/2. May opened at 52 1/2, off 1 and later regained 1/2.

Oats, December, opened down 1/4 at 33 1/2, gaining 1/4 later. May opened off 1/4 at 35 and advanced 1/4 in later trading.

THINK STEIN DEATH
DUE TO POISONING

Findings in Autopsy of Movie Director Not Divulged—Girls Are Held

By United Press Leased Wire
Los Angeles, Calif.—Pending result of the official autopsy, the police clung persistently Tuesday to the theory that Albert S. Stein, movie director, had been deliberately poisoned.

While Autopsy Surgeon Wagner said "all indications were that Stein died of bad liquor" following a drinking bout in his apartment here Sunday, he admitted the possibility of the director having been murdered.

Should the autopsy reveal traces of poison in Stein's stomach, the police said that both Jean Munroe, movie actress, and Mildred Rellin, vaudeville artist, might be questioned further. The girls, who are "held for investigation," were sleeping in Stein's apartment the night he died, and according to the police, had both been living at that place for some time.

FOOTBALL PLAYER DIES
FROM INJURIES IN GAME

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee—Football claimed its first victim here Monday night when William O'Connell, 25, half back on an amateur team died as the result of injuries received in a game Sunday afternoon.

O'Connell went to work as usual Monday but complained of a severe headache. In the evening he grew worse until he became delirious and was removed to the hospital where he died several hours later.

GIANTS AGAIN ARE EVEN UP IN SERIES

fanned, swinging at a low ball. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The Giants continued to slug the ball but could not quite get it out of the lot. Young and Meusel missed home runs by only a few feet.

Yankees—R. Meusel out Frisch to Kelly on an easy chance. Pipp singled, a Texas leaguer to center. Ward fanned. Pipp stole second. Snyder's throw to Rawlings was very low. McNally fanned swinging. No runs, one hit, no errors.

This was the first effective pitching the Yankees had faced. Barnes was alternating a fast ball with curves.

Fourth Inning
Giants—Snyder up. Snyder singled to left on a grounder that Peck couldn't reach. Barnes singled to left. Snyder taking second. The Yankees gathered around Shawkey. Burns reached first on McNally's error. It was a bunt which McNally juggled and then threw low to first. Bancroft singled to left scoring Snyder and Barnes. Burns reaching third. Frisch forced Bancroft. Peck unassisted. Barnes scoring on the play. Frisch stole second. Young fanned with his bat on his shoulder. Kelly singled on a bouncer over Pipp's head. Frisch scoring. Kelly out 'stealing. Schang to Ward. Four runs, four hits, one error.

As the Giants landed on Shawkey, Bob's defense also broke behind him and this was equally responsible for the Giant rally.

Yankees—Schang walked. Shawkey fanned swinging. Fawcett walked. Peck fanned swinging. Schang was almost tipped off second but beat Snyder's throw by a slide. Miller fanned swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Barnes was pitching marvelously and returned the side on strikes, the Yankee swinging at sharp breaking curves and missing them by a foot.

Fifth Inning
Giants—E. Meusel walked. Rawlings safe at first when Ward threw low to Pipp. It was an error for Ward. Snyder bunted a fly into McNally's hands. Barnes fouled to McNally. Burns forced Rawlings at second. Peck unassisted. No runs, no hits, one error.

Both teams and part of the crowd behind the plate were continually buzzing minority for his decision on balls and strikes.

Yankees — R. Meusel up. Umpire Moriarty ordered catcher Earl Smith from the Giant dugout and the crowd booed him as Smith walked slowly to the clubhouse. Meusel walked. Pipp fanned. Ward called out on strikes. McNally flied to E. Meusel. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Barnes continued his effective work and scored his seventh strikeout in a row in this inning and the eighth of the game.

Sixth Inning
Giants—Bancroft singled to left on a drive between McNally and Peck. Frisch walked. Young fanned and Bancroft was doubled stealing third. Schang to McNally. Frisch reached second on the play. Kelly singled to center scoring Frisch. E. Meusel flied to Fawcett. One run, two hits, no errors.

Yankees—Schang singled to center. Shawkey forced Schang. Bancroft to Rawlings. Fawcett fanned. Pipp flied to E. Meusel. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Barnes continued to pitch great ball and ran his strikeout up to nine. Fawcett being the victim in this inning.

Seventh Inning
Giants—Rawlings up. Umpire Moriarty ran Hans Lobert off the Giant bench. Rawlings popped to Peck. Snyder out Peck to Pipp. Barnes out Ward to Pipp. No runs, no hits, no errors.

It was the first inning of the entire game in which no man reached first base. The crowd began to leave.

Yankees—Miller flied to Young on the first base line. Young made a spectacular running catch. R. Meusel fanned. Pipp out Rawlings to Kelly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning
Giants—Burns flied to Fawcett. Bancroft popped to Ward. Frisch fanned. Called. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankees—Ward out. Bancroft to Kelly on a close play. McNally popped to Kelly on the first base. Schang walked. Baker, batting for Shawkey, out. Rawlings to Kelly on an easy chance. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning
Giants—Pierce now pitching for the Yankees. Young singled to left. Kelly fanned swinging and Young was out stealing. Schang to Ward. E. Meusel singled to right. Rawlings fanned. Swinging. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Yankees—Fawcett flied to Rawlings. Peck flied to Rawlings. Miller flied to Rawlings. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SUGGEST WAYS TO RELIEVE JOBLESS

Washington—Eight major recommendations to bring permanent relief in the nation's unemployment and industrial distress were approved by committees of the national unemployment conference Tuesday.

Outstanding were an endorsement of the limitation of the arms conference and recommendation for lower railroad rates. The recommendations were to be submitted to the general conference late Tuesday. So far conference committees have been unable to agree on a recommendation for wage reduction, although a majority of the conference is said to favor such action.

'Y' MEMBER DRIVE
IS HUGE SUCCESS

of a membership will be selected by the Y. M. C. A. staff, the school principals and pastors.

An incident that was not discovered until the banquet was over was that Ewald Elias turned over three memberships to the winning Orblison team, feeling that his group could not win anyway. It was these three that gave the Orblison team the lead in the final reckoning and placed G. E. Buchanan's team second.

Secretary George F. Werner told the workers in a brief talk that they had done much better than he dared to anticipate in times like these. He announced that last year's total obtained in the campaign was 1,408 members. To this was added the vocational school boys, who paid half their membership fee while the city paid the other half to permit them to take physical training. This year the vocational boys are not counted in the same manner, so while the results fell short of the goal of 1,500 they equaled those of last year. With a large list of prospective members and others who promised to join later, it is said the total will have passed the 1,500-mark by Jan. 1.

Workers Make Pledge
When all reports were in it was found that the workers lacked 65 members for an even total of 1,400. One man after another guaranteed either to obtain or pay for ten, five or one, with the result that 73 memberships were pledged, carrying the total past the 1,400 mark by 7.

Mr. Werner, P. E. Dunn, general chairman, and F. J. Harwood, president of the Y. M. C. A., praised the workers in jubilation talks.

Mr. Harwood said that workers go out for criticism as well as for money, and get it every year. Much of it is unjust, and when called to the attention of Y. M. C. A. officials usually is ironed out without much difficulty when the "knacker" understands the true conditions. Some of the criticisms he said, were just, and the association took note of them.

"Because we listen to these criticisms and recognize them when they are just, we profit by them," Mr. Harwood said. "That is why we have the best Y. M. C. A. in the state and one of the best in the United States. We give value received for the money."

Mr. Harwood proposed a one-day campaign next year, with 400 or 500 workers, and also suggested electing each succeeding year's chairman at the close of the various campaigns. The latter idea was carried out by the choice of Mr. Orblison, and the one-day plan will be considered by the board of directors.

Strong, Straightforward Advice To Thin, Underdeveloped Men and Women

If you are thin, scrawny and underdeveloped, if your face is peaked and your cheeks and neck exhibit unsightly hollows, it's almost certain that your nervous system is at the bottom of the trouble. You can eat three, yes four, substantial, fat producing meals a day, but as long as your stomach has an insufficient supply of nerve force this food you eat will pass out of the body with little if any benefit.

In order to assimilate properly the nourishing food you eat and convert it into healthy tissue and fat, the nerves that control the process of digestion and assimilation must be put in first-class shape and until that is done you might just as well quit trying to put on flesh. Your system is starving for something that will turn the food you eat into healthy staying flesh and it can only be done in one way—by correcting faulty nervous digestion.

Thin, nervous, run-down people, however, with impoverished blood and half-starved looks are hauling with delight a quick and certain maker of solid flesh called EVANS' TRIPLE PHOSPHATES that is unequalled for repairing faulty digestion and correcting nervous digestive troubles. In fact the makers of Evans' Triple Phosphates guarantee that one month's treatment will increase your weight by several pounds and within ten days make you feel like a new being, full of ambition, vigor and a desire to accomplish things. Leading druggists everywhere have agreed to supply Evans' Triple Phosphates and guarantee it to do just what is claimed for it or money refunded.

Caution: While Evans' Triple Phosphates accomplishes wonders in nervous digestive troubles and as a general nerve tonic, it should not be taken by anyone who objects to a few additional pounds of solid stay flesh.

A Timely Sale of Women's Cape Gloves

at Only $1.48 a pair

For Smart Models That Are Actual $2.25 Values

No single sale could possibly be as popular as a special selling of good gloves in October. Not only does the weather demand the wearing of gloves, but the Autumn costume needs smart gloves to complete the effect.

Gloves have had an expensive reputation for the past several years and many women have worn poorer qualities than they were accustomed to buying. With the price offered on this lot—excellent quality cape gloves are offered at a real old fashioned sale price.

The gloves come in tan and brown cape in one clasp model. The shades are especially good, the workmanship is of the finest and each pair has been fashioned to look smart with new suits and coats.

Every pair of gloves in this sale is of a quality that is actually worth $2.25—in Wednesday's Sale they are $1.48.

Visiting Club Women, Find Your "Double"
Every Visiting Club Member attending the Convention is entitled to a tag which she is to wear in a prominent place. These tags may be obtainable at the "Doubles" booth at Geenen's Store, or at the Congregational Church, Wednesday A. M. They are numbered and it is up to you to find the person wearing a tag bearing the same number as shown on your tag. Introduce yourself to her and then go to Geenen's Store together and call for the prizes waiting for every pair of doubles that come in together.

Find your "Double" and at the same time get acquainted with the Convention visitors.

points where the sewers emptied. The pumping station also was visited. No meeting was held following the tour of inspection, and no conclusions were announced. It is expected that the committee will present its report or recommendations at the next meeting of the council.

Members of the common council, acting as a special committee, met Monday afternoon to examine the intakes at the municipal water plant. This was done as a followup to the statements by state health officials that the city water was subject to contamination by sewage emptied a short distance further up the river. The exact location of the intakes was shown the councilmen, and the
